

ISSUE STAFF

Editor-in-Chief: Kent Roberts
Regulatory Compliance and Crafts Manager: Kent Roberts
Dairy Food Decision-Making Chartist: Kent Roberts

Kent

July 2017 #2
Volume 15, Issue 6

The Errors & Pockets Issue

Kenternet: TGIKent.com
Letters: tgikent@gmail.com

 a publication by and about Kent Roberts, and for the global community ***

A mission-critical publication for the Kent Roberts Age¹

by Kent Roberts

When any reasonable person thinks about Kent Roberts-related media, the first and only news outlet that comes to mind is Kent. In other words, it's clear that this publication is at the core of the effort to spread the word of Kent's life to children, women, and men from sea to shining sea (and even in boats in the sea, and swimming or using flotation devices). To put it another way, this humble and unassuming, arrogant and assumptive one-pager is as critical to the impossible mission of Roberts as Kent's eyes are to his all-seeing (minus the viewpoints provided by every other perspective) vision.

Kent Fail Log

15.4% error rate mars final 13 characters of bacKent

by Kent Roberts

I suppose to say that the July #1 issue of Kent (Volume 15, Issue 5; the "Kent is Only Natural" issue) ended on a discordant note would be accurate, but perhaps what's more to the point is that the musician stopped playing the song and just sludged his way through the final few notes – and that is why the melody went haywire. Just take a look for yourself. Here is original text of the final 18 characters, with two typos underlined (the latter because there were no initial quotes in the original):

mimick the Amish.”

This situation was partially rectified when Kent replaced copies of the problematic version. However, as many as ten (10) readers may have copies with the pathetically sloppy conclusion.

Resolution: No more failure.

Fact & Fiction About Kent Roberts

Fact: At least once in his life, Kent has pulled an ergonomic keyboard out of his sweatshirt.

Fiction: At least once in his life, Kent has pulled a standard keyboard out of his sweatshirt.

¹ the epoch that is current at the time of publication (August 17, 1977, until Kent's future, bizarre, harrowing, and untimely death)
Copyright © 2017 Kent is Unsure if He Should Feel Worried or Pleased to Realize That Ice Cream Has Become a Staple of His Diet.

Kentphorism:

“If I had a nickel for every time I made 4 cents this year, I’d have a little better cash flow.”

bacKent

Kentphorism:

“I get my ideas from a careful blend of rational analysis and waiting for the imp-whispers.”

THE WORLD’S MOST UNMOORED & UNSEAWORTHY BACKSIDE OF A PUBLICATION ABOUT KENT ROBERTS

Pocket inventory for July 11, 2017

by Kent Roberts

Occasionally I like to take inventory of my pockets, just to have a little more accountability for what’s going on in there – but I have not previously discussed my findings in Kent. Please be aware that this comprehensive pocket inventory was taken when I was at rest and had already removed my phone and wallet to set the latter on top of the former, covering its camera lens, at the right side of my computer.

- Keys (Kent HQ key, Kent Parent HQ key, Kentmobile key)
- Headphones, one pair, tangled
- 1 black pen, Pilot G-2
- Lip balm, non-GMO, Desert Essence
- Phone power cord
- One highlighter, described as “the size of a standard hot dog” by Kent Size & Quantity Assessor Kent Roberts, pink
- Two 3 x 5 cards containing to-do lists – one with black-ink items on one side and the other side blank, the other with black ink and minimal pink highlighting on its front (I’m referring to the lined side as the front, but I am aware there would be those who might claim that the unlined side is the “true front” of an index card, and we rightly recognize those people as wrong-headed) and primarily red ink with secondary black ink on its back, along with extensive pink highlighting.

A talk with my landlords

by Kent Roberts

I spoke with my landlords, Joseph and Kelly. It was first thing in the morning. We discussed how I’d left my car there during street-cleaning. When the talk ended, I went to the mirror and realized that I had three issues with my face: a small but visible booger (A), an eye crusty (B), and the dry facial patch discussed in Kent July #1 (C).

Issue C had been untended via application of aloe vera, vitamin E, or tea tree oil.

Resolution: Get some self-respect.

Laundry update

by Kent Roberts

Two loads of laundry have been completed and put away in the closet in the last three days. It’s been madness around here.