Errands associate: Sustainability of Earth starts with Kentself

By Kent Roberts

As heads of various divisions of Kent Media Enterprises and unauthorized personnel met as we always do throughout the day, at the whim of one of us, when we start shouting and demanding that all of us show our faces, the issue of sustainability arose.

“We need to talk about this thing,” said Kent Errands & Loose Ends Associate (KELEA) Kent Roberts.

“We really need to put this thing on Kentself.”

– Errands Associate Roberts

He added, “We really need to put this thing on Kentself. If we are to take responsibility, it starts with Kentself.”

“This is all so serious. I hate it,” said Kent Celebrations and Mischief Programmer (KCMP) Kent Roberts, who was using his yo-yo at the side of the conference table, behavior that is completely out of order.

“Well, everyone just dying because we couldn’t be bothered doesn’t work,” said Kent Green Initiatives Planner (KGIP) Kent Roberts. “We can’t just all die.”

“I don’t see how I’m supposed to address this value shift when I’m given machinery that burns fossil fuels,” said Kent Local Distro Strategist (KDS) Kent Roberts. “My arms are tied. I can’t create money out of thin air!”

“We must simply keep taking the right steps, and be more aggressive in taking those steps than we want to be,” noted Kent Conscientious Consideration Consultant (KCCC) Kent Roberts. “That’s the only way to make a legitimate effort. And we are delusional if we don’t think that we are killing ourselves and our children and our grandchildren. We’re killing everyone by submitting to this fossil-fuel-based infrastructure.”

“I’ll point out that you have to make these changes or you’re basically a terrible person,” said Kent Obsessive Compulsive Disorder Self-Management Decider Kent Roberts (KOCDSMD), looking directly at KLDS Roberts – who burst into tears and ran from the room.

Kent HQ to move for two-dozen time

by Kent Roberts

The HQ On-the-Move Issue, August 2017 #2 (v15, i8) talked about how a move I would make with Kent HQ in October 2017 would mark the two-dozen move of the organization.

Actually, that move will take place on April 1 officially. I will be moving into a Kent HQ that has a much better layout than the current Kent HQ –and I want to say might even have a better layout than any Kent HQ in history! The living room is at the center. This apartment, the third duplex HQ, will be very close to an art museum, so I’m picturing myself walking over to it. Or maybe I’ll just hide inside my place, afraid to leave.

WORLD’S MOST UNORTHODOX, PSYCHO-SPIRITUALLY DAFT BACKSIDE OF A KENT ROBERTS PUBLICATION

Numbers & colors: exclusive interview with Kentself

Kent: I increasingly think there’s a lot of power in colors and numbers.

Kent: OK, whatever that means.

Kent: Well, I think there’s a mathematical design to the universe, and I can see colors around people’s heads –

Kent: Right, you worship numbers and are hallucinating. The hallucination is a neurological symptom due to low blood flow to your brain.

Kent: No, I can see colors. And I aligned myself with the number 3. I’m raising $33k –

Kent: You never stop talking about yourself, do you?

Kent: Anyway, the landlord’s number ended in 333, and the address ends in 33.

Kent: You sound like that barista – remember back when we worked for 3 months at Moondollars Coffee? He said he was 200 years old. He said it very seriously.

Kent: Yeah I remember that conversation. It was like the weirdest thing I’ve ever heard.

Kent: Yeah, well that’s you – you’re becoming the weirdest thing I’ve ever heard.

Kent: I don’t see how it’s weird to say I’m seeing 3s all over the place.

Kent: It’s cultish. You seem like you’re going to become one of these cult leaders who recruits yoga enthusiasts and gets a bunch of clandestine plastic surgeries.

“You worship numbers and are hallucinating... due to low blood flow to your brain”

– Kent to Kentself

Kent: Um... that’s not cool.

Kent: Well stop reminding me of cult leaders!

Kent: I’ll try.

Resistance corner / childhood memory

By Kent Roberts

Axl Rose is a strange figure in the resistance movement. Just after the election, he had fans in Mexico City jump onstage to beat a life-sized piñata of the president-elect with sticks; and he continues to drill him consistently with tweets. I moved to rural Indiana at the start of eighth grade, and Guns ‘n’ Roses was the band in those parts; after all, Axl was from Indiana. I became a fan of Guns ‘n’ Roses, then fell away from them as I became more acutely aware of how hateful some of their earlier lines were (see “One in a Million”). It is bizarre, and, I think, spells doom for the Republicans that Axl and I are again on the same side.

Fact & Fiction About Kent Roberts

Fact: All members of KentMind have been known to go on strike when coffee is not provided.

Fiction: Kent has always been relaxed about coffee, often saying to baristas, “You drink this one.”
